Ingredient Labelling

If your customers need you to provide batch traceability, you can switch Foodlogik's batch recording on at any time and print a label for each incoming delivery which makes your stock far easier to identify and rotate within the warehouse - and also means you can use the Android Stock Manager module for on-line stock checking.

Product Labelling

In much the same way, Foodlogik can generate product labels whether or not you have full stock control. These can be printed direct from Foodlogik or via industry-standard packages such as Bartender or Planglow and has the added benefit that they can be customised for specific customers.
